

GLOBAL WARMING IS AS REAL AS THE LEPRECHAUN UNDER YOUR BED!

How does one prove that global warming, or Climate Change if you will, is, or is not, man made?

Simple. Remove man and man's activities from the equation.

The result will have been no global warming, correct?

SPACE-X's CEO Elon Musk revealed that the sun's heat will eventually boil off the oceans. Researchers were probably aware about this increased warming for centuries. They were also aware of cyclically-occurring heating and cooling that gradually produced higher lows, and higher highs within these cycles, resulting in an average rise in the median.

That observable temperature rise will, it is assumed, make the planet uninhabitable.

The global warming doomsayers have been correct all along.

The END is Near.

By next Thursday the latest, in 12 years according to leading climatologist AOC, PhD, or after 500,000,000 years according to Musk. Whichever comes first.

PRANAY PATHOLE to Musk:

...In another half billion years or so the sun will expand and probably evaporate the oceans & life would be impossible on earth. We need to either establish a multi-planetary society by then, or humanity will cease to exist...

@elonmusk

Replying to

@PPathole

That's when all life on Earth will be boiled off. What matters is how long civilization is capable of making the jump to Mars. This could be a very short period of time measured in decades. It took 4.5 billion years to get to this point & civilization isn't looking super stable.

REF: <https://twitter.com/PPathole/status/1267650836718444545>

Musk may have inadvertently exposed the fakery that has become the global warming narrative...for what it was...and what we know it is:

A globalist money transfer scheme to expropriate the wealth from the much larger middle classes in the developed societies, and transfer their assets through brokers and elites (these being the Democrat billionaires who backed Obama-Biden-and-Clinton) to the poorer nations and the elites who run the game. The brokers and elites get a cut of the many trillions in the forward-moving scheme. The scheme? More globalism.

With the newly found wealth taxed or removed by other means, including direct theft and seizures of cash and assets, the movers will develop these poorer nations and their labor force to further profit the self-same billionaires and their brood. Meaning, the ones who had made the investment into the politicians cited, whose strings these businessmen pull to get the results for which they invested.

Along with this scheme, the self-same Usual Suspects fund the political initiatives and media to remove the citizen's means to defend their wealth.

That, is why a network of these billionaires who travel surrounded with armed bodyguards, in the company of politicians surrounded with armed bodyguards, fund the anti-gun movements and media across the United States. Noted: these billionaires, politicians, and elites have nothing in common with - and their interests are not the same - as the voters who give them the power with which these elites will steal their freedoms and futures.

What Really Happened Dear Hillary, is more or less exactly what I said would happen for two decades:

Global Warming, or Climate Change, or whatever name the same people will come up with next to explain the weather, is caused by two primary forces.

Neither can be controlled by man, science, wishing and hoping, or man's activities.

1. Geothermal activity - 40,000 miles of underwater volcanoes....

2. The sun.

These two physical realities producing massive heat have warmed the planet for at least twelve years, far more than your SUVs and BBQs.

Perhaps not as much as Al Gore's fat thighs rubbing together to cause friction.
Or the hot air coming out of Obama's and Biden's mouths.

Guess what? With most commercial activity, travel, cruise ships, locomotives, aircraft, cars, factories, huge office building complexes, government offices, even activities at home having ground to a halt, been shut down, or put in mothballs forever, or at best reduced in scope for a solid three months across the planet, global warming will continue to increase.

An Inconvenient Truth.

The unexpected aftermath of the WUHAN VIRUS proved that warming is not, and never has been, man made!

The huge scale scientific experiment on an unwilling humanity resulting from China's KARMA might make mankind rethink the implications of the weather. And ocean level rise. Most importantly, the warming scam's future danger to their existence and prosperity.

Before the yada-yadas come showering from the balconies, we make it clear:

NO ONE DENIES THAT WARMING IS REAL.

The deniers are those who first deny the cause, and then fabricate a narrative for it for political gain; who, for political and/or economic reasons, profit from the greatest con against humanity.

Consider: To uncover any scam and fraud, all one has to do is to follow the money. The numbers always add up, and the fake narratives always get unpacked by the numbers.

Summing up: A 60-80% global cut in commercial activity which in fact took place as nation after nation shut down their industrial, business, private and other operations, will have had no effect on increasing warming when it will have all played out.

Warming will happen with or without man's input.

What we have here boys and girls, is that the Al Gore/Obama/Biden/Soros/EU narrative was exposed by the Coronavirus.

As what?

As a crock of steaming bovine droppings.

The evidence will be in.

It will be undeniable.

The fraud, indefensible.

What should the dispassionate observer make of it?

Expect the advocates to deny warming was ongoing while the planet went on vacation to cover for their ongoing fraud.

Global warming is indeed real.

It's cause is known. It is measurable.

The science has been settled by November 2016.

Up to that time it was settled science until someone unsettled it in 2020 - the case here.

Which is, man has nothing to do with it.

Andrew G. Benjamin